The class of 2011 is proud to dedicate this year's yearbook to Mr. Scott Butchart. Mr. Butchart is a passionate counselor, a caring mentor, a loyal fan, and a reliable friend. As a french teacher, former soccer coach, and now associate dean, Mr. Butchart has been a powerful force in our growth and learning at Brookline High School. Most seniors who have walked the halls of BHS will recall suddenly finding Mr. Butchart walking in stride, asking about a report card, a missed class or an upcoming Warrior's sporting event. With relentless persistence and caring attention to the details of our lives, Mr. Butchart has pushed us to become more than we ever thought we could be (even when we didn't want to be pushed). We will always be grateful for the time you took to know us. Thank you, Mr. Butchart!

Warriors ATHLETICS

To The BHS Class of 2011,
It has been gratifying to watch you compete and learn. You've given us many exciting and proud moments in the arenas of sport. Now that your Warrior game days are in the past, we hope you'll think on this: Do well to recite the records, do better to recall every score, do best of all to remember the esprit de corps. Cherish the relationships that you've made here. Go on to make more.

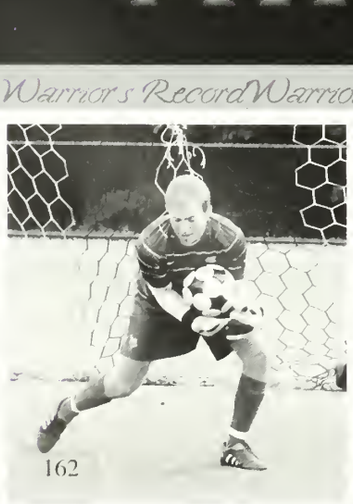
"Alex, we appreciate everything you have done for us and the athletic program here at BHS. We wouldn't be the same without you. We cannot thank you enough for your hard work and dedication to each and every athlete. You're the world's best trainer."

ALEXANDER JZYK
ATHLETIC TRAINER



Dear Young Men and Women of the Class of 2011:

The Class of 2011 is a typical BHS graduating class (not a bad thing). Your academic, civic, social, and athletic achievements are impressive. Approximately 40% of you were inducted into the National Honor Society (and the rest of you are not done yet; your best days are ahead of you). The boys' Cross Country team was State Champs; the boys and girls soccer teams were the best ever; the curling team was champs for the second year in a row; and the music, drama, dance, and art that you produced was brilliant. Your most impressive and defining characteristic, however, is your ability to cross racial, cultural, and religious lines in your friendships. That serves as a proud model of diversity within a unified and harmonious school community. That will change the world!

We will miss you. I will miss you. You are fun! Please know that Brookline High will always be one of your homes.

Dr. Adrian Mims
Dean

To The Class Of 2011,

I cannot thank you enough for the four wonderful years we have had together at Brookline High School. The class of 2011 will always hold a special place in my heart because you were my first freshmen class in my new role as Dean of Students. As I reflect on our first year together, we were all faced with the challenge of adapting to something new. You were adjusting to life as a freshen and I was embracing more responsibility as Dean of Students. Although you are moving on to face new challenges in you life, please know that Brookline High School will always be your home.

Sincerly yours,
Dr. Adrian Mims

Dear Class of 2011,

It has been my sincere pleasure to help shepherd you through your years at BHS. You were the first group for whom I was the Associate Dean and I learned as much during our experiences together as you did. You may not remember your first day at BHS very clearly but I do - beautiful blue skies on a summer day. I remember asking you to look all around the building as you were sitting in the Quad and I pointed out the functions of the different parts - no doubt completely lost on you at the time. I remember you as short little people with braces and bad haircuts. You don't look like that anymore. In fact, most of you act very differently from the way you acted at fourteen, but your personalities and humanity have remained the same. I has been a great honor for me to work with you, and I will always remember you as my first class. Best of luck in all your future endeavors!

Sincerly Yours,
Scott Butchardt

You're a dweller on the threshold.
Waiting at the door. Standing in the darkness. You don't want to wait no more.

Into this life you were born.
Perhaps you don't know why.
And time seems to go by (so fast).
In the twinkling of an eye.

And so please summon up your youth.
Go seek the truth that you can live by.

It will come to you…

The greatest thing you ever can do. Is trade a smile with someone who's blue. It's very easy, just…

Enjoy it while you can.

" Inshallah" - If God wills it. The word we've said after every plan. Inshallah in a minute this, inshallah in an hour that, inshallah in a day this, inshallah in a moment that, inshallah in 2 years we're gone. Seems like you left two years too early. I knew you for exactly 365 days. Day 1 until day 365, you made me believe in what I was discouraged repeatedly in believing in. If I were to say you brightened my days, gave me butterflies in my tummy,and all the smile in the world, that would be an understatement. You passed the purity in yourself to me. The person I would have been without those 365days is not to be even spoken of. The strength of every heart beat I heard from your chest presented me with comfort and safety. Louis Lee Prowse I hope you're happy and resting where ever you are.

Afsha Begum

Louise Lee Prowse was someone you could never have beef with. He was someone who everybody loved. The days following his death, I was in disbelief he was truly gone. I thought I was dreaming for a couple weeks and would sooner or later wake up from this dream and he'd be there, on the other end of the phone line. I can't fathom the pain his family has been in this past year. The saddest thing about my friend's departure is that we'll never see the amazing person he was bound to become. I'll take him with me through my life everyday. I love you mate. I'll see you again someday.

Ryan Connor

Louis,

"My darling say it isn't so." These were my opening words for our 'Knowing Louis' day when so many of you at Brookline High School came to share our hearts and a year later they still say it all for me. Say it isn't so. But it is and every day we are faced with the aching loss of not having your joyous mischievous irreverent and yet so reverent and loving being with us in this physical world. The milestones are clicking by, the rugby season, the proms you missed and now gradnation and what would have come next. I watch your friends continue to grow and wonder how you would look today. And everyday your 'Engineering Future' college files pops up at me on your laptop as does your chosen screensaver of where you wished to live, and all your photos, hopes, dreams , and passions. Please say it isn't so. In writing this I have also been rereading all your essays and writings and am constantly struck by how much is prophetic. I guess in part that comes from what you had to deal with in your life but also seemed to reach a summit in those last months, a perfect peak. Going right back to age 9 with your elaborate fable abont 'unexplained deaths' and perfect reincarnations and how we should always be prepared to " expect the unexpected." Your childhood drawing with 16 radiating spikes for a beating loving heart, now tattooed on us. Fast forward to English essays where you compare a book to your scars and learning to be proud of them and how you shaved your head revealing all just before leaving us. Your interest in philosophy especially when delivered via humor and your struggle with mortality and the human condition and what human beings were capable of doing to each other. Leaving us peacefully, unexpectedly on the first day of school upon awakening after having unpacked your room the night before, so excited about what the next day would bring. Religiously placing everything perfectly which suddenly looked monastic to us after you left. Everything in your room meant something, small mementos of people and times and really you did not have much else. Embracing us all the night before with your bear hugs and loving being, there are just so many photos of you hugging and embracing people. Counseling friends and in Australia with girlfriend issues until the early hours, you never left anyone behind and really ended up balancing two time zones, two worlds. Listening to 'Let the drummer Kick one more time, sleeping, never to wake up.

I suspect you learned to live your life and love perfectly Louis, with your much less than perfect hand: Grace, dignity, humility, courage, loving kindness, and compassion. But subtly, never preachy with your cheeky humor and just being so effortlessly cool. And present for us all. Present and presence. Even as a baby you visibly radiated love, full of life and passion and exuberance. Always living in the moment, life full throttle. It seems you knew more than us.

We miss you Louis, just so much and always
